Course summary

The Immunisation Course for Healthcare Professionals has been designed for professionals who can practice as approved immunisation providers. The learning aligns with the national legislative requirements while still allowing students to explore the specific elements of the state or territory they work in.

The Immunisation Course for Health Professionals is based on the National Immunisation Education Framework for Health Professionals. It has been accredited by Health Education Services Australia (HESA).

HEALTH EDUCATION SERVICES AUSTRALIA

This nationally accredited course is for AHPRA-registered healthcare professionals who can practice as approved immuniser providers.

The refreshed course has also been endorsed by NAATSIHWP for 70 CPD hours.

Course content

The Immunisation Course for Health Professionals recognises a growing number of AHPRA-registered health professionals play a significant role in maintaining high immunisation coverage rates by providing accurate and comprehensive information about vaccines and immunisation programs.

The course provides students with comprehensive knowledge of relevant legislation, standards, and codes of practice regarding the administration of vaccines.

This promotes consistency across states and territories among qualified health professionals involved in the implementation and application of immunisation procedures.

Students will study and complete all six units of learning within the five days of face-to-face study.
